COVID-19 rules and regulations for participants

4. Vaccination requirements for Participants

Participants are required to be vaccinated against COVID-19. Exemption applies to the participants who have recovered from COVID-19, and to the participants who are exempt from vaccination for medical reasons.

The fulfilment of the conditions mentioned above is defined by the legislation of the residence country of each participant.

All participants must comply to the host country guidelines and regulations related to COVID-19.

5. Spectators

All the spectators of European Universities Rowing Championship Istanbul 2022 sports events must obey general COVID-19 rules at the time of the sports events.

6. In case of COVID-19 symptoms

In case of COVID-19 symptoms, the participant will be tested with Rapid Antigen Tests (RAT) at Yeditepe University Medical Center, located within campus in Istanbul.

Negative test result means that the participant can return to the competition in European Universities Rowing Championship Istanbul 2022, if it is still possible.

With a positive test result, the participant will be moved to the isolation room, located within the accommodation area. Standard isolation period is seven days, but it is possible to shorten this time; firstly, with negative RAT test results taken 48 hours from the first test. Secondly with negative RAT test results taken after the second test according to the doctor's recommendation. In both cases negative result means isolation will be lifted.

The person who received negative test that shortens the time of isolation can return to the competition in European Universities Rowing Championship Istanbul 2022, if it is still possible.

During the isolation period the person may not leave the room for other than hygienic and physiological needs. Food and beverages will be delivered directly to the isolated person.

Current regulations in force do not impose an obligation for isolated person's team members to be put in quarantine/isolation.

In case the isolation period is longer than the period of planned stay in Türkiye at European Universities Rowing Championship Istanbul 2022, the costs of food and accommodation must be covered by the isolated person.

Failing to comply to the isolation regulations will result in fine of 1000 EUR.
